These days more and more young people are going to school by car. In the UK a quarter of all secondary school kids go to school by car. But experts say it’s healthier to walk or cycle. What do you think?

Helen

Jamie & Laura

John

“I usually walk or cycle to school. I prefer cycling because it’s quicker than walking. My mum says bikes are four times faster than walking and you use the same energy. My dad doesn’t like cycling. He says it’s more dangerous than walking.”

“We go to school by car. Our parents think it’s safer and faster than walking or cycling. Actually, it’s slower because the traffic’s always terrible in the morning. And it’s definitely more boring than walking. When you walk to school, you see your friends.”

“I skateboard from my house to the bus stop. Then I get the bus to the towncentre. Skateboarding’s more exciting than getting the bus, but the bus is better because my school is eight miles from where I live. And it’s at the top of a hill.”

- II. Match the parts of the sentences. (2 pts)
